ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am deeply grateful to my supervisor and co-supervisors, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Kate Grudpan and Achan Sunanta Wangkarn of Faculty of Science, Chiang Mai University and Dr. Joachim Krüger of the Institute for Biogeography, University of Saarland, Germany, for their kind supervision, invaluable guidance and constant encouragement during the course of this research project. A special word of thanks is extended to Mr. Pisan Kitsawatpaiboon for his kindly help in using gas chromatography-mass spectrophotometer (GC-MS). I am grateful also to Thai Unique and Lachat Instrument for the on loan Quick Chem 1000 FIA instrument.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Technische Zusammenarbeit (GTZ) for providing 2 years scholarship for me to pursue the International Master's Degree Program in Environmental Risk Assessment for Tropical Ecosystems (ERA) at Chiang Mai University.

I also wish to thank all my classmates for a wonderful time we shared, especially Mr. La Karimuna, Mr. Jose Frazier Pallornina Gomez, Mr. Sakchai Ovatnupat, Ms. Alice Sharp for their helpful in the field. Special thanks also to Ms. Piyanetr Sritarathikhun for her help and understanding.

Last and most of all, I wishes to show my heartfelt gratitude here to my parents, my brothers and sister for their tender love, care and endless encouragement.
