ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my pleasure to acknowledge the help and contribution of many people and institutions throughout my graduate study and this thesis research.

My respectful acknowledgement and deepest thanks go to my Ajarn Dr. Songsak Sriboonchitta, my Academic and Thesis Advisor and Chairman of my thesis examining committee for his invaluable guidance, understanding, encouragement, and stimulating suggestions from beginning to the end of my study period. I am especially grateful to him for econometric expertise and guiding me into the field of quantitative analysis which is major methods of my thesis research.

I am greatly indebted to Ajarn Assoc. Prof. Dr. Aree Wiboonponge, my Co-Advisor, for her kindness, great suggestions, comments, and criticisms at every stage of my study.

I would like to express my grateful acknowledge to Ajarn Phrek Gypmantasiri, Chairman of the Agricultural Systems Program, my Co-Advisor for his great help, valuable suggestions, and criticisms to my study.

The help and comments from Ajarn Dr. Kamol Ngamsomsuke, my Examining Committee Member, are thanked a lot.

My special thanks to all Respected Academic Faculty Members of the Agricultural Systems Program for providing interesting lectures and conceptual challenges. I also would like to express my thanks to Khun Worluk, Khun Suporn, Khun Pratana, Khun Keo and other MCC staffs for their necessary help.

I am grateful and especially thankful to Mr. and Mrs. Minh Kauffman co-directors and Ms. Viet-Huong Tran Kurtz coordinator of the Center for Educational Exchange Program of Mennonite Central Committee, for their kindness helps, great concerns, and financial support throughout the course of study.

Great thanks go to Rector Prof. Dr. Cu Xuan Dan, Vice Rector Prof. Dr. Nguyen Viet Tung, and Dean Assoc. Prof. Dr. To Dung Tien for their kind helps and encouragements during my study. I am thankful to Dr. Quyen Dinh Ha, Dr. Tran Van Duc, Mr. Luong Xuan Chinh, Ms. Nguyen Thi Tuyet Lan, Mr. Le Huu Anh, Mr. Pham Duc Minh and my all other close colleagues for their kindness and useful helps.

Thanks are also due to farmers, village leaders, and officers of my study sites in Red River Delta for their valuable helps in field survey and interview duration.

I thank very much to all my classmates, AGS friends and Vietnamese friends for their substantial helps and warm friendship. My special thanks to Mr. Dung, Mr. Thapa, Mr. Jarus, Mr. Charal, Mr. Tospol, for their help in completing this thesis research.

Finally, I am blessed with love, understanding, and encouragement from my parents, my wife Nguyen Thi Hoa and my son Nguyen Trong Thang, who are my sources of inspiration and dedication.
