ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to pay a great respect to the venerable Kru Ba Sri Vichai, the monk of the people.

My sincerest gratitude goes out to the following persons who have given me an opportunity to pursue a Ph.D at the honorable Chaing Mai University: Prof. Dr. Choti Theetrenont, Prof. Dr. Wichit Srisuphan, Dr. Benja Tacklam, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Linchong Pothiban, Asst. Prof. Sara Mookdee and his family, Dr. Veeravat Sukvara, Ms. Araya Wonghongkul, and Mr. Sa-vear Taewprasert.

I would like to express my deepest appreciation to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Ratanawadee Chontawan, advisor of this research, for giving me guidance throughout the period of my Ph.D work and helping me learn the expertise in her management.

I would also like to express my warmest thanks to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Susanha Yimyam and Prof. Dr. Veena Jirapaet, the co-advisors, for their advices which were very valuable for this research and led me to pass every step in this research with confidence. I am equally grateful to Dr. Kannika Bangsainoi, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Linchong Pothiban, and Assoc. Prof. Dr. Warunee Fongkaew for giving recommendations which are much valuable for further improving the quality of this research.

I would like to extend my gratitude to Kuakarun College of Nursing, Chaing Mai University, and Bangkok Metropolitan Administration for jointly granting me a scholarship for this study, to the Graduate School, Chaing Mai

University for research funding, and to Thai Health Promotion Foundation for granting a scholarship for the training courses on breastfeeding.

I am deeply indebted to my teachers and colleagues at Kuakarun College of Nursing for giving me supports and an opportunity to continue my study and for taking charge of my responsibilities during my absence on education leave. I would like to express my special thanks to nurses at the Premature Infant Unit, BMA Medical College and Vajira Hospital and all parents and their preterm infants involved in this study for generously giving time to participate in this research until it was completely finished. I would like to thank Assoc. Prof. Dr. Suaree Ontrakarn, Dr. Payont Bunyarittipong, Ms. Thidaratana Wongvisutdhi, Ms. Pikul Khumsriboos and Ajarn Nisarut Hoko for validating the research instruments in this study.

I am extremely grateful to Asst. Prof. Dr. Atthajinday Deepadoug, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Pornsri Sriussadaporn, Prof. Dr. Rosanne C. Harrigan for their tremendous support. I also would like to express my sincere thanks to my friends who are like “the bridge” supporting me to smoothly follow the path of education: Ms. Wannee Sittisangwattana, Mr. Komson Loichusak, and Mr. Seri Parndejong. I would like to thank Ms. Saowanee Ekpanyachai, Ms. Cathy DiSantis, Mr. David Freyer, and Mr. Russell Pattinson for helping editing my research. In particular, special thanks to Pee Tu, Pee Na, Pee Id, Aae, NOUNG- O, Puke, Jum, New, Nang, NOUNG, Touch, Ooy, Add and Da. Without them, the study would not have been accomplished.

Above all, I would like to extend my greatest gratitude to my Great father and mother and my siblings for their sacrifice and for letting me devote much of my time to pursue my study.
