ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I gratefully acknowledge to my thesis advisor, Dr. Wanaruk Saipunkaew and to my thesis co advisor, Dr. Somporn Chantara for their kind supervision and support throughout this study. I also would like to thank my thesis advisory committee, Dr. Patricia A. Wolseley for the valuable comments and suggestions to improve the manuscript.

I gratefully acknowledge Biology Department and Chemistry Department for the providing of laboratories and instruments, to Biodiversity Program for financially supporting this thesis.

Thanks are due to Nuttira for her help collecting lichen specimens, to Toy for the accommodation in Lampang, to Mim for her assistance and suggestion with the ion chromatography, to Eric Chen for his help editing the manuscript, to Indra Pourel for his suggestion and encouragement and to all my ES friends for their cooperative and encouragement during my course work study.

Finally, I am really grateful to my beloved mother and brothers, for their support and encouragement.
