ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Firstly, I would like to pay the greatest respect to the venerable monks of Thai people, “Kru Ba Sri Vichai” and “Luang Poo Waen Sujinno”, who have been a solace to me throughout the long journey of my study.

Secondly, I would like to express my deep gratitude to Prof. Dr. Wichit Srisuphan, a former chairperson of the doctoral program, for helping me to solve the problems about the study and who has supported me throughout my PhD program. She is a good role model of a teacher.

I wish to express my deepest appreciation to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Ratanawadee Chontawan, my dissertation chair, for giving me guidance and encouragement throughout the period of the work on the dissertation and for also helping me learn to be a scholar. She provided both academic guidance and moral support. I also would like to express my warmest thanks to Asst. Prof. Dr. Jarassri Yenbut and Assoc. Prof. Dr. Kasara Sripichyakan, the co-advisors, for their time and invaluable advice that let me pass every step in this dissertation with confidence. My heartfelt appreciation is further extended to Prof. Dr. Rosanne C. Harrigan, for her invaluable help and support during the first part of my study process. Her wealth of knowledge and expertise helped me to develop a proposal, not only for her academic guidance but also for the moral support.

I am thankful to Prof. Dr. Wichit Srisuphan, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Warunee Fongkaew, and Asst. Prof. Dr. Wanapa Sritanyarat for giving recommendations which were very valuable for further improving the quality of this dissertation. I must especially say thank you to Dr. Autchareeya Patoomwan, Asst. Prof. Dr. Patraporn

Tungpunkom, and Dr. Supaporn Duangpaeng for validating the interview guide in this study. I also wish to thank Assoc. Prof. Dr. Areewan Klunklin, who gave useful comments on peer debriefing.

Furthermore, I would like to acknowledge the Faculty of Nursing, Burapha University for allowing me the time to study in this program. I also wish to express my gratitude to the Royal Thai Government for providing a three-year scholarship support for my doctoral studentship. The Graduate School, Chiang Mai University Affairs and the Faculty of Nursing, Burapha University must also be acknowledged for providing partial financial support for this dissertation.

I would also like to extend my appreciation to the parents and their children who participated in my study. My study would not have been accomplished without them. Moreover, I would like to thank all the members of pediatric unit, Chon Buri Hospital, for their friendship and supports during my study.

I would like to thank my colleagues, friends, and classmates, especially Dr. Watcharaporn Chewwattana for their friendship, supports, and experience that they have shared with me during my study. I also would like to thank Ms. Saowanee Ekpanyachai, for helping to edit my dissertation.

My sincerest gratitude goes to the Amaritachad family, Asst. Prof. Dr. Chantarawan Saengkhae, and Ms. Photjanart Sarapat, for their unconditional love, understanding, and continuing support and encouragement throughout my PhD program.

Finally, the most important, I would like to thank myself for my patience and endeavor throughout the long journey of my study.

Yunee Pongjaturawit
