Protection of human rights	62
Data collection method	63
Data analysis	68
Chapter 4 Results and discussion
Demographic characteristics of the sample	69
Difference in knowledge of diabetes, glycemic control, cardiovascular risk, and quality of life between the experimental and control groups at baseline	77
The comparison of knowledge of diabetes, glycemic control, cardiovascular risk, and quality of life between baseline and 24-week after entering the program of the experimental and control groups	80
Knowledge	81
Glycemic control	81
Cardiovascular risk	83
Quality of life	84

LIST OF TABLES

Table	Page
4.1 Demographic variables of the control and experimental groups	72
4.2 Clinical characteristics of the participants in the control and the experimental group at the baseline	75
5. Mean difference of the knowledge of diabetes, glycemic control, cardiovascular risk, and quality of life of people with diabetes mellitus between the experimental and control groups at baseline	79
6. Comparison of knowledge of diabetes between baseline and 24 weeks after entering the program of the experimental and control groups	81
7. Comparison of glycemic control between baseline and 24 weeks after entering the program of the experimental and control groups	83
8. Comparison of cardiovascular risk between baseline and 24 weeks after entering the program of the experimental and control groups	84
9. Comparison of quality of life between baseline and 24 weeks after entering the program of the experimental and control groups	84

10	Comparison of knowledge of diabetes between participants in the experimental and control groups at 24 weeks after entering the program	87
11	Comparison of glycemic control between participants in the experimental and control groups at 24 weeks after entering the program	88
12	Comparison of cardiovascular risk between participants in the experimental and control groups at 24 weeks after entering the program	90
13	Comparison of quality of life between participants in the experimental and control groups at 24 weeks after entering the program	91
