ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is a privilege for me to have Associate Professor Dr. Sampan Singharajwarapan as my thesis advisor and I am highly indebted to him for his enthusiastic, invaluable and professional guidance and encouragement for this study. He helped me right from the conceptualization of my thesis proposal to completion of my thesis in this form. He supported me in all aspect of my research including procurement of CHASM software exclusively for my research. He also lent me with several important study materials. I am also grateful to my general adviser and co-adviser Dr. Sutthathorn Chairuangstri for her invaluable guidance and support throughout this study. Thanks are due to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Kitchakarn Promma and Dr. Satawat Saenton for being the member of my thesis examining committee and providing with very constructive suggestions which enabled me to improve my thesis.

Mr. Sikharin Tepsathit and Mr. Tharathorn Janthaphan offered their untiring help and support by accompanying me during my field visits and data collection despite their busy schedule. Besides, they created a favorable environment for my research in their office. Mr. Phaisan Plungklang, Mr. Jakkarin Monpuma and Mr. Sukhonmeth Jittramahantakul provided me with various helps ranging from field trip arrangement to collection and testing of samples. Their helps and supports are sincerely appreciated and acknowledged.

I would also like to thank Asst. Prof. Dr. Samporn Chantara, the head of Environmental Science Program for her continuous support and guidance. Thanks are also due to all my lecturers in the Environmental Science Program and from other departments and faculties for their help and support.

My pursuit of master's degree in Chiang Mai University would not have been possible without the financial support from the Thailand International Development Cooperation Agency (TICA). Therefore, this is to pledge my heartfelt gratitude to TICA for the financial support.

I would like to thank all friends in ES Program, both Thai and other nationalities, for their friendliness and cooperation.

I would like to thank my parents, sisters and brothers for their support and being with me all the times. Lastly, I would like to express my heartfelt appreciation and thanks to my wife for her constant words of encouragement and taking good care of the family back at home.
