ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis has been accomplished during the period of June 2005 to December 2007, in co-operation between Materials Science Research Laboratory (MSRL), Department of Physics, Faculty of Science, Chiang Mai University, Chiang Mai, Thailand, Materials Research Laboratory (MRL), Pennsylvania State University, Pennsylvania State and Materials Science and Engineering Department, Iowa State University, Iowa, United State of America.

First of all, I would like to thank Assoc. Prof. Dr. Supon Ananta who has given me the great opportunity, good supporting, encouragement and valuable suggestions. I would also like to thank Asst. Prof. Dr. Rattikorn Yimnirun for all kindly advices, helpful suggestions and valuable information.

I would like to thank my committee members, Asst. Prof. Dr. Yongyut Laosiritaworn, Asst. Prof. Dr. Apinpus Rujiwatra and, especially, the external committee member, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Santi Maensiri, for their helpful advices, comments and suggestions.

I must give a special thank to Prof. Emeritus Dr. Amar Bhalla, Dr. Ruyan Guo and Asst. Prof. Dr. Xiaoli Tan for all opportunities, supports, suggestions and instructions about this work while I was in USA.

My profound thanks convey to all the other members of Electro-Ceramic Research Laboratory, Department of Physics, Faculty of Science, Chiang Mai University for their assistance and Mr. Suwit Chaisupan for XRD analysis and Electron Microscopy Research and Service Center (EMRSc) for SEM analysis. I would like to thank Nanoscience and Nanotechnology Center, Chiang Mai University and the National Nanotechnology Center (NANOTEC), NSTDA, Ministry of Science and Technology, Thailand, through its program of Center of Excellence Network for parts of supports.

Moreover, I would like to thank Department of Physics, Faculty of Science, Maejo University for allowing my study and parts of financial supports and the Ministry of University Affairs of Thailand for all financial supports.

Finally, I am very grateful to my family, Prasert Wongmaneerung and Nipa Wongmaneerung. The love, care and supporting that I have been receiving from them
