ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all, I want to send my deep respect and a thousand thanks to all Ajarns at RCSD for their invaluable guidance for my study. In particular, I am highly indebted to Asst. Prof. Dr. Chusak Wittayapak, as my thesis adviser. I admire him for his scholarly knowledge, and enthusiastic encouragement for this study. Similarly, I am also grateful to Dr. Chayan Vaddhanaphuti, and Associate Professor Dr. Buapun Promphakping, the external committee member. I would like to express my sincere thanks and respect to Dr. Yos Santasombat, Ajarn Phrek Gypmantasiri and Prof. Dr. Anan Ganjanapan for their professional guidance and kindness during the completion of my study. Further, I would like to express my sincere thanks to Ajarn Ekamol Saichan, Ajarn Dr. Santita Ganjanapan, Ajarn Dr. Pinkaew Laungaramsri, Asst. Prof. Dr. Jamaree Chiengthong, and many Ajarns both at the Faculty of Social Sciences and academic staff of the University, for their instruction, constructive comments and suggestions during the coursework of the program, and for providing a homey environment.

I am grateful to the Director General of Samurdhi Authority of Sri Lanka, and also the director board who nominated me for studying in Thailand. I am grateful to the Thailand International Development Cooperation Agency (TICA) for the financial support, and thankful to all of the institutional staff and individuals involved in enabling the study. Without their funding I might not have had the opportunity to improve my knowledge, study and enjoy life at Chiang Mai University. CMU is a place of beautiful landscape and pleasant weather and excellent facilities, which were essential to my study. Many thanks are also sent to RCSD staff and Graduate School staff especially Joy, Nook, Oy, Muttika, Fongchan, Suthalee and Wanthanee. I am very appreciative for their whole-hearted help in both academic and non-academic affairs of my study.

I am lucky to have friends, both Thai and other nationalities, of all ages and in the many faculties of CMU. Especially, I send thanks to my classmates; Sachiko, Yahui, Dan, Ronny, Chittapong, Dexa, and Sivilai. The friendships I made here are precious in my life. Due to their friendship, Chiang Mai became enjoyable, though we also shared the difficulties of studying abroad. I also thank all of my senior and junior students in CMU for their friendliness, encouragement, cooperation and immense help during my study period. A special thanks goes to Daniel Powell, for his hard work contributed to editing my thesis at various stages.

I thank the great hospitality and friendship of the people in the Vallangiriya village, of course both men and women, although I am unable to list all of their names here. Particularly I am thankful to staff in Kaduwella Samurdhi Maha Sangamaya and Bank Societies for their help to carry out my fieldwork. They gave me the opportunity to practice observation and conclude the evaluation of savings and credit programs in Kaduwella.

My greatest debt is to my family. My deepest appreciation goes to my wife Priyanka for her constant support, moral encouragement and looking after my whole family in my absence. My two daughters Vishmini and Sasmini have sacrificed so much for my study. They are the greatest motivation for my study. Finally, I would to dedicate this thesis to my parents who are now blessing and inspiring me from the immaterial world in difficult times of life.
