ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am appreciative to many people for their participation in the success of this dissertation. I am most grateful to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Kittiporn Punyapinyophol, chairperson of advisory committee, Assoc. Prof. Dr. Sirmsree Chaisorn and Prof. Dr. Anurak Panyanuwat, members of advisory committee. Addition with Asst. Prof. Dr. Jintana Sujjanun and Lect. Dr. Suchin Petcharak, members of examining committee. The valuable comments from the very important persons cloud lead me to improve this dissertation toward the completion.

I am profoundly grateful to instructors of department of curriculum and instruction addition with department of educational evaluation and research, faculty of education, Chiang Mai University that used to teach and facilitate me until I could to apply the knowledge for created a model in this research. Addition with all of the name that were shown in references, which supported me to study and review for integration into this dissertation and develop me to construct the knowledge for developing the ability in research and development of local curriculum of northern community teachers, which had effect to developing curriculum for local learners and support to developing education for all.

I always remember to the kindness of Sir. Paron Israsena Na Ayudthaya, VIP of Suksapattana Foundation and one of the founders of constructionism in Thailand, who gave the good chance to me for learning by participation in the learning process of Constructionism theory with the creator of the theory, Prof. Dr. Seymour Papert and his team, which supported me to construct the process into this dissertation and find a practically model for developing the ability in research and development of local curriculum of community teachers.: DAR&DLC by CLIPAR Model.

Thank you very much for valuable suggestions from Dr. Suchin Petcharak, the expert, who applied the theory for creative activities in many context. And thank you very much for valuable suggestions from Asst. Prof. Dr. Suchart Leetagool, the expert, who is a importance person about curriculum development and creating academic activities for developing students to be academic teachers in a long time.

My special thanks go to the local wisdom practitioners, the learners, the northern community teachers and the stakeholders, who are very important persons too, which had participation in the process of this research until this dissertation came to success and find the useful and practically model.

Before the last but not the least, I would like to devote this research to my dad and Pee Tan, my elder sister that now they can not to see this success, but I am sure, they known I remember to the good pleasure of them. Thank you from my mind to my dad, my mom, my sisters and brothers in the warm family “Booranariththithawee” that support me in everything on every time. And thanks for a lot of kindness and friendly mind of Pee Anong Panthachot, who is the same as my elder sister.

The latest but the closest, thanks by my heart to my wife : Penpitchayakorn ; my 4 sons : Suriyapong, Prawoot, Pitbhasin and Thanunnut Booranariththithawee, who are support me in necessary thing to my mind that I want to say a short word but the long meaning to them “LOVE”.
