ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In completing my dissertation, I owe special thanks to many people who have been involved and helped me through this academic experience. First and foremost, I would like to thank the women who participated in this study. Thank you for their willingness to share their time, experience and knowledge. Their insight and openness about their experience have been invaluable and have profoundly shaped the way I understand women's experience of disclosing abuse.

My sincere appreciation goes to Associate Professor Dr. Kasara Sripichyakarn, my chair dissertation advisor, for her professionalism and excellence as a teacher and mentor. I appreciated her dedicate time, constant encouragement, patience, helpful comments, constructive feedback during the work of this dissertation. Without her I might never finish my dissertation. I would also like to extend my thanks to my co-advisors, Associate Professor Dr. Kannika Kantaruksa and Associate Professor Dr. Chavee Baosoung for their constant support and helpful comments.

I wish to express my special appreciation and deepest gratitude to Associate Professor Dr. Kaysi Eastlick Kushner, Professor Dr. Linda Reutter, and Associate Professor Dr. Alex Clark for their valuable instruction, intellectual guidance, friendship, and support during one year of proposal development at University of Alberta, Canada. I wish to thank Dr. Kaysi for her continuing valuable comments and guidance on my dissertation.

My gratefulness is extended to my examining committee members, Associate Professor Dr. Warunee Fongkaew, Associate Professor Dr. Areewan Klunklin, and Associate Professor Dr. Wandee Suttharangsee , who shared their thoughtful comments and scholarly recommendations to strengthen my dissertation.

I wish to thank my colleagues in Faculty of Nursing, Khon Kaen University who assumed the teaching load while I was on leave to pursue my graduate studies. My sincere gratitude and thanks is extended to my doctoral classmates and my friends for their encouragement, understanding, and support. Most importantly, I would like to express my deepest love and gratitude to my family for their unconditional love and support throughout this academic endeavor. The utmost achievement and advantage of my dissertation are dedicated to my beloved father who passed away.

I gratefully acknowledge the Ministry of Education for providing scholarly support for my study. I also extend my sincere thanks to the Graduate School of Chiang Mai University and the Thai Nursing Council for providing financial support for working on my dissertation.
