ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Since I started MA program six years ago, encouragement, support and love of people around me made me through to this day with the completion of this thesis. I would like to express my deepest appreciation to Dr. ChayanVaddhanaphuti, my thesis advisor, who has provided huge support. His lectures and advices on my thesis was a light that always shed my path and led me to deep understanding on social sciences. I would like to extend my appreciation to Dr. WasanPanyagaew who gave me positive comments and clear suggestions to improve theoretical arguments of my thesis. I also thank sincerely AjarnSuriyaSmutkupt who supported me for the first step of the research and also gave me detail comments to improve my thesis writing. I would like to thank all the staff, especially MuttikaThungsuphuti (P’Pong), at the Regional Center for Sustainable Development (RCSD), Chiang Mai University for their support in administrative matters. The fieldwork and the binding of this thesis were partially supported by RCSD.

I really appreciate female Lahuvendors and Lahu people in urban Chiang Mai as well as villages in Chiang Rai whom I met and kindly shared their life experience with me. I was always touched their warm acceptance with smiles and a space to sit next to them. What I learnt from Lahu female vendors are their life experience not only for my thesis but also for my life. I was also stimulated from many scholars whom I met during my research and thesis writing. I am grateful to Dr. TatsukiKataoka, Dr. Yoichi Nishimoto, and Dr. Judith Pine for sharing their rich experiences in fieldwork in Lahu villages. My appreciation also goes to Ajarn Yuriko

Saito, Ajarn Masaki Oshiyama, Ajarn Masaaki Ohashi and Ajarn Hideaki Uemura for continuous support since I was undergraduate student.

My life at RCSD was supported by so many friends from different countries. I am grateful to PakakrongMakpun(P'Krong) and Tran Thi Ngoc Trinh for a huge support on my life and study. They were great sisters for me. My gratitude also extends to Sachiko Yasuda, Yuuki Miyake, Sayaka Mori, Shion Fujita, MasakoNamekawa, BusarinLertchavalitsakul(P'Aer), IkukoTazakiand friends at RCSD as well as Thai course for their continuous support and friendship. My heartfelt thanks also goes to stuff of the non-governmental organization, the Inter Mountain Peoples Education and Culture Association of Thailand, friends from the scholarship program, Inter Tribal Education and Culture (ITEC)for encouragement and support throughout seven years since I got to know them for the first time. I would like to thank P'Krong who translated my English abstract into Thai and Gary Morrison for English edition.

Lastly, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to my parents in Japan, my daughter,NayuFujii and my husband,KaeBuddaraksajariya for their understanding and enduring support. This thesis is dedicated to Nayu.
