ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis would not have been possible without the guidance and support of many individuals and organizations. First and foremost I am thankful for Almighty God for providing me with this opportunity, strength and courage to successfully complete the course. I would like to sincerely acknowledge Ministry of Human Resources Youth and Sports, Maldives for giving me the opportunity to study. My sincere acknowledgement also goes to Thailand International Development Cooperation Agency as this endeavour would not have been possible without the generous financial assistance provided by the Thailand International Development Cooperation Agency for covering all the expenses for my scholarship.

I express my sincere gratitude to my thesis advisor, Assistant Professor Dr. Thitinut Akkadechanunt, who had provided endless support and remarkable kindness from the beginning until completion of my thesis. My deep felt appreciation also goes to my co-advisor Associate Professor Dr. Ratanawadee Chontawan for laying the foundations for this research through the comprehensive knowledge she imparted during the Research Design in Nursing module of the course. Her valuable scholarly guidance and diligence in responding to my queries are highly appreciated.

I am also eager to express my gratitude to my thesis examining committee members. A special thanks to the experts who validated the contents of the instruments used in this research. I would also like thank all my teachers in Faculty of Nursing, Chiang Mai University for imparting knowledge which guided me to gain a broader understanding regarding nursing administration, health service management and about other related fields.

The data collection for this research would not have been possible without the cooperation and assistance of many people. I would like to express my sincere appreciation to Indira Gandhi Memorial Hospital for facilitating the data collection, to the nurses and patients of Indira Gandhi Memorial Hospital for their willing participation in this research and to the nurses who helped me during the data collection process.

Lastly of all, I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to my parents, brothers and sisters for providing their encouragement and support throughout the course of the study. I will forever be grateful to my husband for his unwavering support and for being a wonderful father to our son while I was away from home during the course of the study. I am also thankful to my loving son, Ali Zayaan Mohamed, for his understanding and willing to put up with the time we were apart.
