ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all, I should show my greatest respect and appreciation to Dr. Chusak Wittayapak, my academic supervisor and the chairperson of my thesis examination committee, for his invaluable guidance, suggestions and patient supervision of my thesis. In addition, I would like to express my thanks and appreciation to Dr. Anan Ganjanapan for his valuable comments and guidance; helping me to develop and finalize my thesis. I also would like to thank the both of them for visiting me in the field and supervising my field data collection activities; their suggestions were extremely valuable.

I would also like also extend my thanks to Dr. Chayan Vaddhanaphuti, Dr. Yos Santasombat, Dr. Jamaree Chienghong, Dr. Kwanchewan Buadaeng, Dr. Pinkaew Laungaramsri, Dr. Santita Ganjanapan, Dr. Amporn Jirattikorn , Dr. Wasan Panyagaew, Dr. Aranya Siriphon and Lecturer Prek Gypmantasiri for their excellent lectures, as they helped me improve my level of understanding on development issues and the research topic. For their help with all administrative matters, I would also like to thank Ms. Muttika Thungsuphuti (Pong) – the Academic Support Officer at RCSD, and all the other RCSD staff.

For its financial support of my studies, I should thank the Thailand International Development Cooperation Agency (TICA), particularly during the 60th Anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between Thailand and Myanmar. I really appreciate the support they gave me.

I also would also like to express my gratitude to the Intha people for their help and hospitality during my field study trips. I really appreciated their willingness to answer my questions and share their life experiences with me during my field research.

I am very grateful as well to the Ministry of Environmental Conservation and Forestry in Myanmar for allowing me to pursue my Master's degree in Thailand, and

I owe a great debt to my mother institution - the Dry Zone Greening Department, Myanmar.

Special thanks must go to my classmates and friends, for their cooperation and assistance throughout my studies in Chiang Mai.

Last, but not the least, I owe a great deal of thanks to my beloved parents, parents-in-law, my wife and my son, who have always encouraged me to continue my studies; for their eternal love, heart-felt encouragement, financial and moral support throughout my academic life.

Kyaw Zin Aung Soe
