ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It has been a difficult task in the journey in search of knowledge. There were difficulties, many joys and tears present during my studying time in Chiang Mai. My thesis would not be completed without the efforts, tolerance, support, assistance and contribution from teachers, friends and involved agencies. The first person, to whom my genuine gratitude and heartfelt appreciation go, is Dr. Mukdawan Sakboon, my academic advisor for her invaluable guidance, careful and constructive suggestions. Her helpfulness and insightful comments have been given me self-confidence, capability and enlightenment in completing my thesis. I am also indebted to my other two thesis committee members: Dr. Prasit Leepreecha and Lecturer. Suriya Smutkupt for their helpful suggestions that have been invaluable for my research.

I would like to express my deepest gratitude to my scholarship donor, Thailand International Cooperation Agency (TICA), for their financial support, without their support, I would not have been able to have this opportunity to study at the Regional Center for Social Sciences and Sustainable Development(RCSD), Chiang Mai University. In addition, during my studying time at RCSD, I was lucky in having obtained a support amidst challenging studying environment which gave me opportunity to study and share ideas. I would like to express my sincere thanks and respect to Asst. Prof. Dr. Chusak Wittayapak, Dr. Chayan Vaddhanaphuti, Prof. Dr. Anan Ganjanapan, Prof. Dr. Yos Santasonbat, Asst. Prof. Pinkaew Laungaramsri, Asst. Prof. Dr.Santita Ganjanapan, Dr. Wasan Panyakaew from the faculty of Social Sciences, and lecturer Phrek Gypmantisiri from the Faculty of Agriculture, Chiang Mai University and other visiting scholars for their invaluable teaching and supervision. Furthermore, I would like to thank Mr. Gary Morrison for his help in editing my English grammar and the writing of my thesis proposal and thesis. I am thankful to many contributions of RCSD staffs, especially, Miss. Muttika Thungsuphuti and other staffs. I highly appreciate their assistance, kindness and friendship in making my study more comfortable. In pursuit of my study in Chiang Mai University, I would like to express my thanks to my international friends and my compatriots, who have shared their experience with me during my time in Chiang

Mai. I was also happy to have classmates from different countries such as Japan, Lao PDR, Indonesia, Burma and Thailand who have shared experiences; lesson learnt and helped each other in the study.

Last, I would like to thank the villagers and authorities in Pattana village, and the urban development and administration authority officials in Pakse who support me the information during my fieldwork. Especially, I would like to thank my family, my wife, my daughter and son who have motivated and inspired me to keep working on the thesis from the process of collecting the information through to the completion of thesis writing.
