ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Grateful acknowledgement is expressed to many persons who provided me with invaluable support through this PhD Journey. First of all, I deeply acknowledge Professor Warunee Fongkaew, my major advisor for her scientific inspiration, invaluable guidance, and tremendous assistance from the day I began the PhD study. Moreover, she always taught me to be mindful, to believe in myself, to be patient when facing challenges and to think critically during the journey of my PhD. She spent endless hours to ensure that I had grasped new knowledge by giving me feedback and continuously pushing me to be successful in this hardest period of my life. Her knowledge, words of wisdom, excellent guidance enhanced my strengths to achieve success in my professional and personal life. My deepest gratitude is also extended to my co-advisor Associate professor Dr. Chawapornpan Chanprasit, for her kind caring, and scholarly guidance since I began my PhD study. Furthermore, I am deeply indebted to Professor Savithri Wimalasekera, my co-advisor for her scientific guidance, extreme support and love throughout my study both at the Faculty of Nursing, Chiang Mai University, Thailand and the Faculty of Medical Sciences, University of Sri Jayewardenepura, Sri Lanka. She was always there for me, encouraged me to walk towards the light, and steered me in the right direction throughout this hardest period of my PhD life. My heartfelt gratitude also goes to Professor Dr. Sue Turale, my co-advisor for her knowledgeable and excellent guidance to complete my dissertation.

Moreover, my honorable gratitude to Professor Wipada Kunawictikul, the Dean, Faculty of Nursing, Chiang Mai University, Thailand for her excellent caring and support to me during my PhD life at the Faculty of Nursing, Chiang Mai University, Thailand. My special thanks go to Dr. Suparat Wangsrikhun and Associate Professor Dr. Duangruedee Lasuka for their invaluable clear guidance given to me during my proposal examination. Further, I greatly acknowledge Associate Professor Dr. Taweeluk Vannarit and Assistant Professor Dr. Pratum Soivong for their scholarly guidance during my qualifying examination.

I am deeply indebted Dr. N.L.A. Karunarathna, Vice Chancellor, University of Sri Jayewardenepura, for his excellent support and guidance for me during my study. Moreover, my deepest gratitude goes to Professor Mohan de Silva, the Dean, Faculty of Medical Sciences, University of Sri Jayewardenepura, Professor Sharaine Fernando, Former Head, Department of Medical Education and Health Sciences, University of Sri Jayewardenepura, Professor Kamani Samarasingha, Head, Department of Allied Health Sciences, University of Sri Jayewardenepura and Senior lecturer, Sujatha Senevirathne, Former coordinator of the nursing program, Faculty of Medical Sciences, University of Sri Jayewardenepura. I strongly believe that all the above people have played a tremendous part for me to start and complete my PhD study at the Faculty of Nursing, Chiang Mai University, Thailand.

I deeply acknowledge with thanks Dr. R.M.K Rathnayaka, Director of NCAS, Sri Lanka, for partial funding the tuition fee for my PhD study and also the research committee, University of Sri Jayewardenepura for the research grant to conduct the study in Sri Lanka. I specially thank Miss. Sunethra Jayathilaka and Mrs. Chamila Damayanthi, my colleagues in the nursing unit, University of Sri Jayewarenepura for their assistance to cover my work during my stay in Chiang Mai, Thailand. My special thanks go to Mrs. Damayanthi Dassanayaka, lecturer, Faculty of Allied Health Sciences, University of Peradeniya, Sri Lanka for her excellent support for me when I started my PhD journey. I extend my special gratitude to Dr. Godwin Kodithuwakku, Mrs. Devika Banneheka, Mrs. Mihiri Gunawardene, and Ms. Binara Jayasingha for their support throughout my PhD journey. I appreciate and thank Mrs. Kokila Mirihana, Mr. Mahesh Tharanga, Mr. Hemantha Kumara, and Mrs. H. Amarathunga nonacademic staff, University of Sri Jayewardenepura for their continuous, efficient clerical support in this PhD journey.

I acknowledge the support, caring and love from my PhD colleagues, and my 'Chiang Mai family' for all the assistance and encouragement to complete this study. My special thanks go to Dr. Chutima Meechamnan and Dr. Waruntorn Jongrungsakul for their wonderful love and extreme care extended to me during my stay at the Faculty of Nursing, Chiang Mai University, Thailand.

I extend my special gratitude to all the participants who generously spent their time to participate in this study and to the staff of the Colombo South Teaching Hospital, Family Practice Center/University of Sri Jayewardenepura, and Medical Officers of Health (Boralesgamuwa and Dehiwala), for the cooperation extended to make this study a success.

I would like to extend my sincere gratitude to Mrs. Thanuja Perera, her parents and her husband who are always behind me to support my life. I would like to thank, Mr. Asoka Withana, my husband for his support throughout my PhD journey. My special thanks go to my beloved son, Vihan Ravindu, for his love, support and patience while his “Amma” was learning. I know you always hide your tears when I was so far from you.

Finally, most importantly, I extend my heartfelt gratitude to my parents who taught me the importance and pride of being educated and for their unconditional love, extreme patience, wonderful support and encouragement throughout this study. I hope my parents would definitely be proud of my persistence and achievement. I am proud and honored to humbly dedicate this dissertation to my dear parents, Mr. Sugath Amarasekara and Mrs. Sumana Kanthi Amarasekara. Thank you very much to you all!
