ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am sincerely indebted to the Government of Malawi, for the much valued support and opportunity to study abroad. I am obliged to Thailand International Cooperation Agency, for providing the scholarship and the financial support.

My greatest honor and appreciation goes to my major advisor, Associate Professor Dr. Ratanawadee Chontawan, for her untiring efforts, support and direction. She gave in countless hours to review drafts and provided the much valued expertise with patience, guidance and encouragement. To Assistant Professor Dr. Thitinut Akkadechanunt, my academic advisor and research co-advisor, her valuable guidance helped me throughout my academic study, including this research work.

My sincere gratitude goes to all the teachers at Faculty of Nursing, Chiang Mai University, my thesis examining committee - for their guidance and suggestions; my instructors in the entire nursing administration program, their vast knowledge and expertise has not only broadened my train of thought, but also aroused more interests.

Special appreciation should go to Dr. Aieman Ahmad Al-Omari of the faculty of educational sciences at Hashemite University, Jordan, for permitting me to use the Job Opportunity Scale. I equally appreciate the online help and support of Dr. Gary Markowitz of Keiser University in Miami: he never got tired with my questions and also permitted me to use his work.

To the Executive Directors of CHAM and MCHS, thanks for consenting to the conduction of this study in your premises. I am indebted to all faculty members in these colleges; this work would not have been possible without them and the faculty members that participated in my needs assessment.

I also express my heartfelt gratitude to all my classmates, for being supportive and caring throughout my study and stay in Thailand. You inspired me all the way.

To my husband Farnuel, you took a back seat to my education for the entire period so I could complete my Masters just like you did at Bachelors. I will finally be able to make it up to you. My children Ronald and Rinna, you gave up a lot of one-on-one time so that I could achieve my goals. My brothers - Levie and Davie; my sisters – Sally and Dilly, thanks for your prayers and moral support. To God is all the glory.

Jane Chirwa-Mazengera
