ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to those who have helped me complete my research and write my dissertation.

My study would not have been possible without the advisory committee. I would like to thank Professor Dr. Wipada Kunaviktikul, my academic advisor and dissertation chairperson, whose valuable suggestions enabled me to overcome the obstacles experienced during my study. I am also grateful to my co-advisor Associate Professor Dr. Raymoul Nantasupawat, for her constant guidance and assistance. In addition, I am deeply thankful for the support from Professor Emerita Dr. Wichit Srisuphan, who has encouraged me throughout.

I would like to thank the experts who offered valuable suggestions for the item creation; moreover I would like to thank the stakeholders who participated in the study.

My gratitude extends also to the Thailand Nursing and Midwifery Council for their financial assistance in the research and production of this dissertation.

Most importantly, this dissertation is dedicated to my family; they have been involved from the start and their support is invaluable.

Lastly, I would like to thank my doctoral classmates who shared their experiences with me and took part in helping me in my study. I really appreciate the constant support and encouragement.
