ACKNOWLEDEMENT

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my advisor Asst. Prof. Dr. Jamnong Uthaibutra for giving me guidance, encouragement, many valuable comments and suggestions as well as conscientiousness throughout the duration of my MS. and PhD. studying in Chiang Mai, Thailand.

I would also like to show my deepest gratitude to my co-advisors Asst. Prof. Dr. Adisak Joomwong and Lect. Dr. Yaowaluk Chanbang who have encouraged and given many valuable advices throughout my studying and living time in Chiang Mai, Thailand.

I would also like to deeply thank Assoc. Prof. Dr. Ngo Xuan Manh and Lect. Dr. Viboon Changrue, my external thesis examining committee members, who have spent many hours to read my thesis and given me many useful comments and suggestions.

My deepest thanks go to the Director and Everybody in Postharvest Technology Research Institute, Chiang Mai University for their helping during my studying period in Chiang Mai.

I also would like to thank my colleagues who are working at the Vietnam Institute of Agricultural Engineering and Postharvest Technology, Vietnam Fruit and Vegetable Research Institute, and my close friends for their kindly helping throughout my studying period in Vietnam.

I especially thank the Program of Agriculture and Aquaculture Biotechnology of the Vietnamese Government for supporting me the funds to study PhD. degree in Postharvest Technology at Chiang Mai University, Thailand. I deeply thank to Mrs. Nguyen Thi Thanh Tam and all of managers and officers of the Vietnam Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development as well as the Vietnam Ministry of Education and Training for helping me before and during the studying time in Thailand.

I would like to thank the Postharvest Technology Research Institute, and Postharvest Technology Innovation Center, Chiang Mai University, Thailand; Department of Postharvest Biotechnology and Center for Research of Agro-Food Processing of the Vietnam Institute of Agricultural Engineering and Postharvest Technology; Department of Fruits and Vegetables Storage of the Fruits and Vegetables Research Institute, Vietnam for providing me studying facilities and analytical equipments.

I also received great support and help from Vietnamese people who are residing in Chiang Mai, Thailand, and should take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to all of Vietnamese students in Chiang Mai city, who shared their feelings, experiences and knowledge with me.

Finally, the biggest thanks go to my large family, my parents, my parents-in-law, brothers and sisters, my wife and my sons for all their encouragements with love throughout the years of study at Chiang Mai University.
