ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This dissertation was supported by the graduate thesis grant from the Office of the National Research Council of Thailand (NRCT) in 2013 which I would like to gratefully thank in this occasion.

This dissertation has been done in favor of Professor Dr. Aree Wiboonpongse, my advisor, for knowledge, counseling, as well as correction until this dissertation completed. Thus, I would like to gratefully and sincerely thank her very much.

I am sincerely and heartily grateful to my co-advisors, Professor Dr. Wan-Tran Huang and Assistant Professor Dr. Yaovarate Chaovanapoonphol, for the support and guidance they showed me throughout my dissertation writing. I am sure it would have not been possible without their help, assistance and guidance.

I am truly indebted and thankful to Associate Professor Dr. Sujittra Rodsomboon for her kindly acceptance to be my examining chairman, as well as helpful guidance to make this dissertation more complete.

I would like to gratefully thank Associate Professor Dr. Kanchana Chokethaworn, for her kindly accepting to be my examining committee, as well as for her helpful guidance.

I would like to thank Lecturer Laxmi Worachai, for her kindness on English corrections, which taught me a lot and helped improve all my writings, as well as Mrs. Jutamas Onprapai for assistance and counseling. In addition, I would like to thank the staffs of the Royal Project Foundation, the Highland Research and Development Institutes, the farmers in Pamiang and Pang Ma-O areas for giving valuable knowledge and beneficial data of this dissertation.

Finally, I wish to express my gratitude to my family, mother, father and sister, as well as, my best friends for their support and encouragement. I am responsible for any errors or inadequacies that may appear in this dissertation, the responsibility is entirely on my own.
