ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This dissertation would not have been completed without the kind contribution of the following persons. Firstly, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to Prof. Dr. Warunee Fongkaew, my dissertation chair for her valuable guidance, intellectual support and moral support throughout my study and for helping me learn to be a scholar. I wish to show my sincere appreciation to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Lynne Ray, Asst. Prof. Dr. Usanee Jintrawet, and Asst. Prof. Dr. Jutarat Mesukko, the co-advisors, for giving me their useful suggestions, comments, and support.

I am exceptionally indebted to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Ratanawadee Chontawan, for providing invaluable suggestions and advice in many steps of my dissertation, including a proposal defense, peer debriefing, dissertation defense, and for her encouragement. My appreciation is extended to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Chavee Baosoung, for giving me suggestions on my research proposal and dissertation defense. I am also grateful to Dr. Hunsu Sethabouppha, for giving me useful advice on peer debriefing. Special thanks also go to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Chawapornpan Chanprasit, a dissertation chair, for giving me invaluable suggestions and recommending me on peer debriefing and dissertation defense to improve the quality of this dissertation.

I would like to express my gratitude to the Faculty of Nursing, Burapha University for allowing me to continue my study in this program and giving me a three year scholarship. I am grateful to the Graduate School, Chiang Mai University for offering me a partial financial support for this dissertation.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to the parents and their little premature babies who spared their time participating in this study. Despite suffering from having premature babies, these parents were still glad and willing to share their experiences and let me in their world while they also gave me their encouragement. I would like to thank all the members of my research setting for assisting and supporting me during data collection. Last but not least, I would like to give my deepest gratitude to my mother, father and Asst.Prof. Dr. Yunee Pongjaturawit, who always gave me with unconditional love, support and encouragement throughout the long journey of my doctoral study. I also would like to say thank you to my aunt and other relatives for encouraging me throughout my doctoral program.
