BIBLIOGRAPHY

Boonthong, Tassana. (2000). Does the number of Ministry of public health nurse actually Enough?. Thailand nursing council newsletter. (in Thai)

Chingsatiensub, Komart; et al. (2002). Local community: The know that make community works is easy and fun. The health systems research institute. (in Thai)

Chulalongkorn University Publishing. (in Thai)

Division of health network service development. (2002). The guideline of primary service unit development: question-answer about primary service arrangement under the universal health coverage service. Nonthaburi: The office of Health Care Reform Project. (in Thai)

Division of Nursing. (1996). Roles and responsibilities of nursing staff: working in the community. Bangkok; Thammasard University printing house. (in Thai)

New York: Holt, Rinehart, and Winst

Kittiruktrakul, Songsri. (2002). Direction of primary nursing service management.

Bangkok: the agricultural co-operative federation of Thailand press. (in Thai)

Oba, Nongnut. (2002). Element of professional nurse competency and relationship between professional nurse competency and some selected elements of professional nurse in the hospital under the ministry of public health. Degree of doctor thesis Naruesuan university. (in Thai)

Philadelphia : Graphicraft Limited.

Primary health care service: case study of Namom district, Songkla province.

Saenadisai, Supanee; et al. (2003). Practical research project for reforming of primary health service system: case study in Bangsai district, Pranakorn Sri Ayuthaya province. Bangkok: department of nursing science, Faculty of medical science, Ramathibhodee hospital, Mahidol University. (in Thai)

Sernprasarn, Penchan; et al. (2004). Quality in nursing and learning organization. service system and the vision of Thailand health system: aspect of nurse. (no)

Songkla: Faculty of nursing, Songkla University

Supawong, Chuchai; et al. (2009). Handbook of sub-district health promotion hospital service. Bangkok: Tee Siew Pi Co.,Ltd. (in Thai)

Taboonpong, Sunutra; et al. (2002). The report of practical research for reforming of primary health care service: case study of Namom district, Songkla province.

Songkla: Faculty of nursing, Songkla University

Tienjai, Pranee and Hongtong, Donnapa. (2002). The research report in the development of family nursing curriculum for professional nurse who work in community health centre. Nursing journal. (in Thai)

