

SOCIAL STUDIES AND CITIZENSHIP EDUCATION IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH

Social Studies Education in Latin America

Critical Perspectives from the Global South

Edited by Sebastián Plá
E. Wayne Ross

CONTENTS

List of Contributors

xi

Preface

xv

- 1 The new social studies research in Latin America:
An introduction 1
Sebastián Plá and E. Wayne Ross
- 2 Educational trajectories in an adverse political context:
The social sciences and history in the Colombian school 20
Sandra Patricia Rodríguez Ávila
- 3 Education, history, and memory in the Chilean school: A perspective on Chile's recent history from the narratives of high school students 37
Fabián González Calderón and Graciela Rubio Soto
- 4 Interculturalism in the training of history teachers:
Persistence of the disciplinary code 52
Omar Turra-Díaz and Juan Salcedo-Parada
- 5 Decolonial pedagogy: Intersections and resistances of memory and history, in Mapuche communities of Southern Chile 65
Carolina Huenchullán Arrué

6	Afrodescendants in Latin America and social studies: A perspective from Mexico Gabriela Iturralde Nieto	82
7	When gender and sexuality intersect with history teaching: Brazil is burning Fernando Seffner	98
8	Crossroads of history teaching and learning and political science in Latin America: The Residente project Luis Fernando Cerri	113
9	Toward a new disciplinary code in teaching history in Argentina: A look at materiality at the secondary level María Paula González	130
10	On the history we teach every day: Historics, historiography, and philosophy of history Ana Zavala	146
11	The critical reading of the southern geographical reality: The challenge of school geography José Armando Santiago Rivera	160
12	The panorama of social studies in Latin America curricula Sebastián Plá	177
	Index	193