

KNOWLEDGE PRODUCTION IN MAO-ERA CHINA

LEARNING FROM THE MASSES

RUI KUNZE and
MARC ANDRE MATTEN

Knowledge Production in Mao-Era China

Learning from the Masses

Marc Andre Matten and Rui Kunze

LEXINGTON BOOKS

Lanham • Boulder • New York • London

Contents

List of Figures	vii
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	xiii
1 Defining Correct Science: Transformations of Knowledge Epistemologies	1
2 Creating the People's Science: Science Dissemination as a Social Process	29
3 Promising a Bright Future: The (Half-)Mechanization of Agricultural Production	59
4 Producing Knowledge on the Shopfloor: Technological Innovation in Socialist Industrialization	81
5 Creating a Bifurcated Knowledge System: The Case of Chinese Veterinary Medicine	105
6 Re-shuffling Science in the Reform Era	125
Bibliography	141
Index	161
About the Authors	167