

CONTENTS

List of Figures	ix
List of Contributors	x
Acknowledgments	xv
1 Introduction Zizi Papacharissi	1
2 Calling the Irrational Unmanageable Neoliberal Self Ilana Gershon	12
3 Channel Navigation in Interpersonal Communication: Contemporary Practices and Proposed Future Research Directions Penny Trieu and Nicole B. Ellison	31
4 Interpersonal Dynamics in Online Dating: Profiles, Matching, and Discovery David M. Markowitz, Jeffrey T. Hancock, and Stephanie Tom Tong	50
5 Connection, Conflict, and Communication Technologies: How Romantic Couples Use the Media for Relationship Management Catalina L. Toma	62

6	Social Media and Subjective Well-Being: A Relational Perspective Samuel Hardman Taylor and Natalya N. Bazarova	86
7	Break-Ups and the Limits of Encoding Love Bernie Hogan	113
8	Technologically Enhanced Dating: Augmented Human Relationships, Robots, and Fantasy Brittany Davidson, Adam Joinson, and Simon Jones	129
9	Mobilizing the Biopolitical Category: Problems, Devices, and Designs in the Construction of the Gay Sexual Marketplace Kane Race	156
10	“How Angels are Made”: Ashley Madison and the Social Bot Affair Tero Karppi	173
11	Disruptive Joy: #BlackOutDay’s Affirmative Resonances Alexander Cho	189
12	Am I Why I Can’t Have Nice Things? A Reflection on Personal Trauma, Networked Play, and Ethical Sight Whitney Phillips	202
13	On Love and Touch: The Radical Haptics of Gestational Surrogacy Margaret Schwartz	213
14	What’s Love Got to Do With It? Shaka McGlotten	230
	Index	253